The last remnants at Anderson's Bazaar can't be beat. The luggies run from 2 to 12 yards for 10 cents a bunch.

The wife of W. J. French, living in the little hotel of Green river, below Brownsville, died last Saturday night of pneumonia.

Mr. Joseph Smith, aged about eighty years, who has been confined to his room since last fall with paralysis, is once more able to be out.

—A young brother belonging to Elijah Chinn, near Cold Spring, in this county, got his head in a crack of a log-lum and in trying to free himself broke his neck.

Thousands have used Kendall's Spavin Cure for rheumatism and have experienced instant relief. See the advertisement.

When you have got an old horse that has passed the market period, apply a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and the result will be marvelous. Read the advertisement.

When you go East on the P. & E. Railroad stop for supper at Gallatin. Mine host John Heller will treat you well. Coming West on that road you can get an excellent breakfast at the same place.

The Standard hotel, Louisville, is the newest and nicest hotel in the place. Every room is a parlor, furnished carpet on every floor clear up to the roof. The furniture is elegant and the fare unequalled.

One of the reliable establishments of Louisville is the jewelry house of C. P. Barnes & Bro. They handle none but good goods, have but one price, and that a fair compensation for each article. By energy and close attention to business and for dealing they have built up a trade all over the South and West. They retain all their customers.

A very pleasant evening was passed at the Hartford House last Friday. The occasion was that of a supper given to a few of the friends and acquaintances of Misses Maggie King and Nannie Alexander. After supper the evening was passed in music, song and social conversation. Among the guests present we mention the name of Miss Stone, of Madisonville.

—Mr. Harris, of Wisconsin, one of the inventors of the Harris & Smith non-explosive self-extinguishing lamp, called to see us yesterday. He showed us his lamp and explained its workings, which convinced us that it is the inventors claim for it. It is next to impossible to have an accident by using this lamp. Mr. W. L. Howe is bossing the sale of the lamp in this region of the world.

—Mrs. Rachel Dennis, widow of John Dennis, who lives near Cold Spring, in this county, is in her eightieth year and does a great part of her housework, being able to sew without the use of spectacles, and thinks nothing of walking a mile or two to visit a neighbor. She is a devout Christian, having been a member of the Methodist Church for very many years.

—We were honored last Saturday by a call from Mrs. Alice Kimbley and Misses Albert Murray, Fidelity Hayden, Edna Montague and Mattie Fulkerson. These ladies seemed to know just what was needed to cheer a group of printers, and so gave us the sunshine of their presence. Call again, ladies, as visits from our friends are always appreciated, and those of our lady friends especially.

—Mr. R. A. Anderson left at our office last Saturday a piece of bark or other which was found on the farm of Horace Burton, Esq., near Whitesville, and also a petrifaction piece of hickory wood which had once been a landmark in the town of Whitesville. When that town was first laid out the wood was placed at the intersection of the streets and has since turned to stone.

—A "stitch in time is worth nine," therefore save time, money and trouble, and secure health, freedom and liberty from pain by using "Crooke's 'Never-Fail.'" These are certain results from the use of such a sure remedy. There are few on the agents and procure a bottle at only 25 cents, and use it, and you will be convinced of its superior virtues. For sale by Thomas & Kimbley, agents, Hartford, Ky.

—The Standard hotel, Louisville, is now throughout, and the most elegant furnished hotel in the city. It is connected by street cars with all the depots and steamboat landings, with all places of business and interest in Louisville. The table is not surpassed by any hotel in the city. Ladies and gentlemen from the line of the L. & N., P. & E. R. R. visiting the city to make purchases can have their packages sent to the hotel and thence taken to the cars free of charge.

—The wife of Wm. Rhodes, of Hartsville, died last Monday evening of consumption.

We have had a trial of the French Golden Washine at our house, and it proves to be all that is claimed for it by the proprietors and agents. It is simply splendid. It makes the clothes look as soft and new. We used it with hard water, too, and it did better than soft water with the best soap known to us, would have done. H. J. Rhodes, of Beaver Dam, is the agent. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

The perfect system which the Louisville firm of J. White & Co., corner of Third and Market streets, Louisville, Ky., has in their way to carry on business, and the well-known honesty towards their customers are the reasons why the sensible men and women of our county purchase their meat, boys' and children's clothing there. If you don't know them personally go and introduce yourself and supply your wants.

The dancing academy has greatly increased in popularity since our people have had a good opportunity to witness the skill of the excellent teacher, Miss Lucie Holmwood. Herself the most graceful and beautiful of dancers, she seems to possess a genius for imparting grace and skill to others. We have never seen one who possessed such talent and tact as a teacher of dancing. Her classes are growing rapidly, and will continue to increase as long as she remains. Harpisville, N. Y. Ec.

Miss Holmwood taught a large class in dancing here about a year ago.

Quite a destruction to sheep by dogs, just east of town, has been going on for several months past. On the farm of Dr. Griffin and brother, Fred, thirty-eight head of sheep have been killed and still the insatiable thirst of the wolf-like canine causes to be slain. Fourteen of these lean, lank curs have fallen victims to the contents of shot-guns, but still the wholesale butchery of sheep continues. It seems only a question as to whether we will have sheep or dogs in this county, and in this connection we will say that it seems that nothing short of a rigid dog law—one that will cause the owner of every dog to place a collar around his dog's neck, giving the name of the owner and pay a tax of at least $2 per annum on the head of each dog. This would, it seems to us, do away with so many worthless curs running at large over the country seeking what they might devour.

—Merrings.

ROSE HAZEL: At the residence of the bride's father, Nicholas Balzo, Esq., by Rev. C. H. Phillips, Mr. G. W. Hritz and Miss N. H. Balzo.

—Marriage Licenses.

The matrimonial market is still dull, but we look forward to better times. The licenses since our last report are: G. W. Hritz to Narcissa H. Balzo, Joseph P. Wilson to Mary A. Hasehart, Joseph P. Rogers to Mary E. Haddleton.

—Religious Notice.

The Ministers' and Deacons' meeting of the Davies county Baptist Association will meet with the South Carrollton Church Tuesday after the third Sabbath in April, 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M.

R. E. SWENNER, Secretary. Callahan, March 17.

—The Willard Hotel Lottery.

As this scheme is presented in regular advertising columns it offers a very tempting array of prizes to be disposed of by lot 7th April next. This is authorized by law and is under the management of disinterested commissioners appointed by the Legislature of Kentucky. As the drawing takes place April 7th, parties desiring tickets will have to order at once.

—The Best is the Cheapest.

The Oliver Chilled Plow is the best and consequently the cheapest plow to be had. It has the lightest draught, and wears longer than any plow made. No time is lost carrying the plow to the shop to get sharpened or pointed. We furnish parts ready made and adjusted, at 40 cents each. Try the Oliver Chilled and save time and money and get better.

For sale by

Z. WAYNE THOMPSON & BRO.

—Beatty's Barber Arguments.

In today's issue we publish a large organ advertisement from the Hon. Daniel F. Beatty, the well-known organ maker of Washington, N. J. The new organs during the Spring season are beautiful 17 stop, 3 set golden-tongued reed organs for $85. These organs are his factory at Washington, N. J., and select instruments in person, he offers to deduct $5 to pay traveling expenses. Read the advertisement.

—To Accommodate the Public.

The proprietors of that immensely popular remedy, Kidney-Wort, in recognition of the claims of the public which has so liberally patronized them, have prepared a liquid preparation of that remedy for the special accommodation of those who for any reason dislike to prepare it for themselves. It is very concentrated, and as the dose is small, it is more easily taken by many. It has the same effectual action in all diseases of the kidneys, liver or bowels.

—Tobacco Market.

At the close of the market last Saturday, Messrs. Semonin, McGee & Co., of the Pike Tobacco Warehouse, Louisville, Ky., made the following report: Our market closed quite strong for all grades of Green river at an advance of 1 to 2 above last week. Dark, rich leaf in good demand at fair prices. Large strong at 31 to 44 cents.

Sales during the week.....1,552

During same week for 1880.....1,526

During same week for 1879.....822

During same week for 1878.....1,438

Sales during the year.....15,413

His Action is Sure and Safe.

The celebrated remedy, Kidney-Wort, can now be obtained in the solid dry vegetable form or in liquid form. It is in the latter way for the special convenience of those who cannot readily prepare it. It will be found very concentrated and will act with equal efficiency in either case. Be sure and read the new advertisement for particulars.

Butter Greenbackers.

The Greenbackers of Butler county met in convention in the courthouse in Morgantown, Ky., on Monday, the 14th day of March, 1881, and J. M. Cook was elected permanent chairman and Edward Neal, Secretary.

On motion, the chairman appointed B. L. D. Guffy, J. A. Taylor, S. J. Taylor, Richard Jenkins and J. G. Maxey a committee on resolutions, which committee, after retirement, presented the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

1st, Resolved, That we demand that the exchange of silver be made unlimited the same as gold, and we condemn all attempts to take away the legal tender power of the greenback money.

2d, We are opposed to funding the bonded debt of the government beyond the power of the government to pay at its option, and we demand that the surplus bonds of specie now in the treasury be paid out on the bonds falling due, and thus stop the interest.

3d, We demand that all banks of issue be suitably restricted, and that the government issue all the money—whether metallic or paper—in such all cases should be full legal tender.

4th, We favor the restriction of all corporate bodies to the end that they shall not become monopolies—dangerous or destructive to the interest or liberties of the people.

5th, We endorse the call for a greenback Senatorial convention, to be held at Rochester, N. Y., April next, and we appoint as delegates to said convention B. L. D. Guffy, Edward Neal, F. Pendley, J. E. Shaver, J. D. Hendler, J. A. Rimmer, Thomas Vass, Sam Comer, J. A. L. Womack, L. B. Orange, A. T. Givens, L. C. Fory, John Holman, Dan Hunt, E. A. McCoy, J. L. Phelps, T. H. Gott, G. P. Taylor, W. J. Phelps, Leander Worley, Mal Embury, W. E. Hinson, Love Casey, W. H. Rose, J. A. Taylor, Press Whitaker, S. J. Taylor, Amos Belishes, Perry Brown and J. R. Brown, together with all voters of this county who intend hereafter to vote the National Greenback ticket.

6th, That we will give Melville Willis, the Greenback candidate for Legislature, unopposed by the Greenbackers of Edmonson county, a cordial support.

7th, That the Hartford Herald and the Greenville Echo, together with such papers as support our cause, be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting.

Adjourned sine die.

J. M. COOK, Chairman. EDWARD NEAL, Secretary.

March 24th, 1881.

—Elbow Herbs.

If you will excuse my long silence, I will tell you all I know; it won't take long to tell.

Out sowing and plant seedling are about through with much time towards preparing for even planting. Tobacco is nearly all sold at figures ranging from 3 to 6 cents, and a good portion of it delivered. Not much less than a dollar a acre, and a good number of gallons of molasses by the several manufacturers at Whitesville Creek this season.

Quite a number of cases of sickness in this part of the county this winter. Uncle Ward Williams has been confined to his bed most of the time all winter, suffering all the while severely. Then better for some days, L. M. Ashby, son-in-law of Uncle Ward, is at the house of the latter suffering an attack of pneumonia. John Williams is still lingering with little hope of recovery. Mrs. Phipps Rowe and Mrs. Dorcas Johnson are slowly recovering. S. W. Jones started yesterday for Louisville, where he will purchase his spring and summer stock of goods. John E. White, with his family and J. W. Gray, left this place Tuesday last for Missouri, where they are going to make a home for the future. Geo. M. Rowe and family spent a week or two days visiting friends and relatives previous to starting for Louisville, where he is going.

—Born.—To the wife of Willis Rowe a son. The first boy for Willis, and you let me be proud. To the wife of J. M. Rowe a daughter, on the 14th inst. This is not so proud, for all his little ones are girls, and to the wife of Sam Morton, a son, still-born.

—Alvin, youngest son of W. Phipps Rowe and one of our cleverest and most sprightly young men, left us a week or two ago to take a position in his brother's store at Springfield, Mo. He is a bright future for Alvin. W. C. Rowe, after spending two weeks visiting with his many friends here, left for his home a week ago. Jake Vardon, who is a bright future for Alvin, is now visiting with his father's family. Mr. Harris, of Janesville, Wis., one of the proprietors of the famous "Never-Fail" medicine, is here, and is quite a pleasant addition to the place, especially as he is a heavy body in that lamp business just now. Cass Morton, agent for Muhlenberg county, and Andy Williams are selling lamps right along in their respective counties. Others of our boys will embark in the same business soon, and we expect to hear good accounts from them too. Uncle Walter Greenwood has sold his little farm near here to Wm. Bolton, and will move to your place some time in the near future. We are both glad to hear of it, as it is not a more clever person to be found.

The reception given to J. W. Pendleton Benton and bride by S. J. Rowlett and family, on the 14th inst., was a pleasant affair and was attended by a large number of persons.

The people of this place and vicinity are anxious that some one would erect a first class dwelling, or a saw mill, or stove factory or something of that sort, in order to put some new life in our place. There are many who are ready to do it, but they are waiting for a man who will do it.

Two Mr. Sams of your town gave us a call yesterday evening, visiting some of our young ladies.

I tell something new occurs I must quit.

—Snoozes.

—Sleepy Hollow.

March 18, 1881.

—Elbow Herbs.

The farmers are done sowing oats and have sown a large crop. Wheat looks very bad.

Mrs. J. W. Stevens, who has been confined to her bed for some time with rheumatism, is now convalescing. Mrs. Isaac Shown is also getting well.

Mrs. L. Campbell and wife and S. M. Woodard visited Mrs. Helen Carson, of Owensboro, last week.

Isaac, near Redd, March 14th, of consumption, Mr. Woodard, 1881. He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss. Mr. Ashby was a good citizen and his loss will be felt in the community. He was buried in the Hartman's creek graveyard. Mrs. Ashby will remove to Pinhook, near Brownsville.

Mr. J. W. Taylor's school at Mr. Washington closed on the 5th inst.

Mr. H. T. Patterson and family left for Missouri on the 14th. I sincerely hope that they may meet with success in their new home. The neighborhood has lost one of its best men.

The man of Kinderhook and at Mr. J. T. Ward's recently to raise a house, and they raised it. G. B. Hooker was there and the way he laid out plans and things was a sight to behold. He can do anything he sets his mind to in this county.

John W. Bryant induces G. J. Ream's call. Put Bryant to the front, Greenbackers, and how will make things lively.

Mr. W. T. McSherry is still sick.

Mr. Basil Hoover is occupying the house in which Mr. D. T. Patterson lived. We are glad to have him for a neighbor.

Mr. S. L. Baird has purchased a silk plug to do his plowing this spring. Mr. B. is a business man.

Mr. Walker Johnson, who started for Missouri sometime since has been in the county.

Rev. Geo. Dennis preached to a very large congregation on Sunday night last.

Mr. Thos. Davis, of your town, will continue to paint the church at Redd on the 24th inst.

A. Tinsley, while running the other day, twisted his ankle out of place, and it does not seem to be getting better and pain is getting about it. It is better at this writing.

I asked Chas. Park for an item this morning, and he only told me that he had been to Owensboro to see his girl.

We want another "Bill from Hesh" and from "Lookout" soon.

Miss Leda Shown has just recovered from a severe attack of erysipelas.

Ann Charlotte Barnett has been treated well, and Aunt Nancy Park is sick, but does not seem to be getting better.

Will Mr. H. C. Trimmer tell the school children that Nanny Jane Jones has not got the measles, but is on her P's and Q's, and we all hope to see her out with her eyes flying as soon as the mud dries up so we can play.

—GROSS.

—How to Become a Good Lawyer.

"Do you want to make a good lawyer?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, now, listen. Be polite to old people, because they have cash. Be good to the boys, because they are growing up to a cash basis. Work in with reporters and get puffs. Go to church for the sake of example. Don't find any time away on poetry, and don't even look at a girl until you can plead a case. If you can follow these instructions you will succeed; if you cannot, go and learn to be a doctor and kill your best friends."

—Hair-Breadth Escapes.

Sometimes, when I look back over my life, I am amazed to see how the pages of my record are dotted with hair-breadth escapes. I escaped the dangers and hardships of the Revolutionary war by waiting until the war had been over about sixty years before I was born. When the Brooklyn theatre burned I was in Burlington, and when the Yellow fever broke out in New Orleans I was in Minnesota, and immediately skipped out for Canada. When I was a boy at school one day all the boys in the school were tagged all around for robbing an apple orchard, and the tagging didn't do a bit of good, for every legger of them had the children morning all that night just the same.

And I was attending another school twenty-three miles distant. When all my brothers and sisters were down with the scarlet fever, I was down South, in the army, and when I read the letter from home I laughed aloud to think of my great good fortune and that I would only have to be shot at once or twice a week instead of having to take medicine three times a day.

When a man comes to the office with a little bill, nine times out of ten I am out. And if, by some astonishing blunder, I am in, then indeed am I more unfortunate, but the man is no better luck than before.—Bachelors.

Of all feelings that move humanity, none is more beautiful, none nobler, than that of gratitude. It stands first and embodies everything. To remember the kind act of a neighbor is to be always his debtor. No matter how many times we may serve him as kindly, if truly grateful, the account is never balanced; we are always on the debtor side. It is not only for the helping hand stretched to us in great extremity that the principle of gratitude declares itself, but for the numberless little things our friends and fellows do in all the days we live. We are dependent one upon another, and he is greatest among us who most clearly recognizes his obligation to mankind, and feels that sentiment which is best expressed by the term gratitude. The most elevated plan of happiness is reached by a human being when he can say to the Recording Angel as did Adam Ben Adhem:

"I have loved my kind."

As one who loves his fellow men."

To be grateful to our neighbors and our friends is essentially to love them, and to love them is to reach the highest standard which divinity has established for man. All that moral philosophy teaches is concentrated in this simple principle, for "God loves." We can neither read nor drive the world into thankfulness. We may force it into an observance of the forms and of gratitude by law, by example, or by other agencies, but to cultivate is to discover not to originate. The command is sometimes far from holding the faith. He accepts but does not really believe. We must be thankful upon our own motion, not because it is made the fashion or because others are thankful, but
